

PRAYING FOR YOUR HUSBAND: WEEK 5

Monday: Pray for his future. (Jeremiah 29:11-13)

Father, you and you alone know what the future hold. I admit that I don't always understand your plans, but I trust you with the plans you have for my husband. I pray that he will be in the center of your will for as long as he lives no matter what the future holds.

Tuesday: Pray for your relationship & marriage. (1 Peter 3:1-5)

God, I ask that You would strengthen our marriage. That we would honor and love one another in a way that honors You. That we would grow in love for one another daily. That You would protect us from anything that would try to divide us or hinder our relationship. I pray that our marriage would be a reflection of Christ and the Church.

Wednesday: Pray for healthy communication with your husband. (James 1:19-20)

God, I pray that You help me have healthy communication with my husband. Give me the strength and patience to be slow to speak and quick to listen. Help us to not exasperate each other but call each other out in love. Help me be honest and give me the humility to both apologize often and forgive in the way only possible through You.

Thursday: Pray that God would help you to love your husband today.

Jesus, I am so thankful for my husband.. Thank You for placing him in my life and allowing me to know him more and more each day. Help me, Jesus, as I work to demonstrate my love to him today. I want to show him my love through my actions, service, and words, but I get distracted and busy and often forget. Be my reminder, Lord, and help me serve him how I would want him to serve me.

Friday: Pray for God to help you pursue your husband.

Father, help me keep the romance alive between my husband and me. It is so easy to get stuck in a routine and forget to keep pursuing each other constantly. Help me pursue him as though it is our first date. I pray that I can make him truly feel loved the rest of his life and that the butterflies will never disappear. I can't do this alone, though, God. Be with me and be my perseverance. Be with my husband, as well. And help him feel loved, even when I fall short.

PRAYING FOR YOUR HUSBAND: WEEK 5

Saturday: Pray that God would help you serve your husband today.

Lord, every day I am reminded how blessed I am to be married to my husband. Jesus, help me never cease to be a blessing to him. Encourage me as I look for additional ways to serve him. Help me be in tune with his needs so I serve him in ways that truly benefit him and not just in ways that make me look good.

Sunday: Pray for his overall health.

Jesus, Each day, teach me how to lay my life down for him and live in a way that glorifies You and him. Keep him healthy, Lord, and allow me to create space for his emotional, mental, and spiritual growth in a way that aids his health. Teach me how to build him up rather than break him down. I love You, God. Help me love him the way You love me.

PRAYING FOR YOUR WIFE: WEEK 5

Monday: Pray for her future. (Jeremiah 29:11-13)

Father, you and you alone know what the future hold. I admit that I don't always understand your plans, but I trust you with the plans you have for my wife. I pray that she will be in the center of your will for as long as she lives no matter what the future holds.

Tuesday : Pray for her Spiritual growth. (2 Thessalonians 2:13, Acts 26:18, Galatians 2:20)

Lord, I pray that she will continue to actively pursue you in her desire to grow in holiness. Remind her that you are not finished with her and you delight in redeeming her from herself. Help her to stay humble before you and thankful for your presence in her life. Thank you for renewing her and continuing to transform her each day.

Wednesday : Pray for healthy communication with your wife. (James 1:19-20)

God, I pray that You help me have healthy communication with my wife. Give me the strength and patience to be slow to speak and quick to listen. Help us to not exasperate each other but call each other out in love. Help me be honest and give me the humility to both apologize often and forgive in the way only possible through You.

Thursday: Pray that God would help you love your wife today.

Jesus, I am so thankful for my wife. Thank You for placing her in my life and allowing me to know her more and more each day. Help me, Jesus, as I work to demonstrate my love to her today. I want to show her my love through my actions, service, and words, but I get distracted and busy and often forget. Be my reminder, Lord, and help me serve her how I would want her to serve me.

Friday: Pray for God to help you pursue your wife.

Father, help me keep the romance alive between my wife and me. It is so easy to get stuck in a routine and forget to keep pursuing each other constantly. Help me pursue her as though it is our first date. I pray that I can make her truly feel loved the rest of her life and that the butterflies will never disappear. I can't do this alone, though, God. Be with me and be my perseverance. Be with my wife, as well. And help her feel loved, even when I fall short.

PRAYING FOR YOUR WIFE: WEEK 5

Saturday: Pray that God would help you serve your wife today.

Lord, every day I am reminded how blessed I am to be married to my wife. She is a beautiful, kind, and patient woman who lives every day for You. Jesus, help me never cease to be a blessing to her as well. Encourage me as I look for additional ways to serve her. Help me be in tune with her needs so I serve her in ways that truly benefit her and not just in ways that make me look good.

Sunday: Pray for his overall health.

Jesus, Each day, teach me how to lay my life down for him and live in a way that glorifies You and him. Keep him healthy, Lord, and allow me to create space for his emotional, mental, and spiritual growth in a way that aids his health. Teach me how to build him up rather than break him down. I love You, God. Help me love him the way You love me.

PRAYING FOR YOUR KIDS: WEEK 5

Monday:

Jesus, satisfy the desires of my child's hearts as they learn to delight themselves in You. Help them to seek Your kingdom first, in all they do, before they seek to satisfy themselves. Help them to trust Your timing.

Tuesday:

Father, make my child kingdom-minded. Help them to see every opportunity as a chance to worship You. Help them know every setback and disappointment as an opportunity to trust You and Your plans and timing even more. Help them see that they are stronger than they think and can survive anything by redefining it with Your Heavenly perspective. Help them to know that they are more than conquerors; victors, not victims, in Jesus' name!

Wednesday:

Father, help my child see that you work all things together for their good. Help them submit to You and Your ways. Help them to trust Your hand to lead them and guide them. Open their eyes to see and understand that whatever the enemy means for evil, You have the power to use it for good.

Thursday:

God, give my child discernment. Give them a clear sense of right from wrong. I pray for clarity from Your Holy Spirit, to know the Truth, and to obey it. Let their character be one of integrity, purity, and goodness. Teach them that even when they mess up, they can come to You freely and ask for forgiveness. That you will always welcome them home.

Friday:

God, help my child walk in forgiveness, humility, grace, and mercy. Help them to receive it from You and help them to give it to others freely. Help my child see their need for You. Convict them of sin, and turn their hearts to You, in Jesus' name.

PRAYING FOR YOUR KIDS: WEEK 5

Saturday:

Help my child pursue You wholeheartedly today. I pray that they would love You with all their heart, soul, and mind and love their neighbors as themselves. Help them not to get caught up in a performance trap but to rest in the grace and the forgiveness You freely give us through Jesus.

Sunday:

Heavenly Father, I pray that my child would know how truly loved they are. That You died for them. You forgave them and want a relationship with them and gave them everything they need for a life of godliness in Christ Jesus. Show them the abundant life You died for them to have, and I pray they would receive it and walk in all the days of their lives. In Jesus' name, I pray, Amen.